A camera club member forwarded this information for the newsletter. Sounds interesting. For those of you who don't have a computer, and would like to enter photos or view the web site, I'm sure other SCCC members with computers could assist you.

.....My name is David and I'm a university student from Melbourne, Australia. I enjoy photography and am a member of the Knox Photographic Society in Melbourne. The reason I am writing is that I have created a personal non-commercial site called 'A Picture's Worth' at <http://1000words.net>

Basically, visitors at my site are invited to share the memories, emotions or creative stories triggered by a photograph of personal significance. My site is very young but has managed to attract over 300 visitors per day so far. Currently, I show a new submission every day.

I continuously seek new submissions and it would be great if you could pass this message onto your society's members to see if they would be interested in reading or making a submission. If there are any questions, feel free to contact me. Having a quick browse through the site will also answer a few preliminary questions.

Thank you very much for your time and I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
David

N4C CONVENTION NEWS

SCCC NAMED LARGE CLUB OF THE YEAR

The annual convention was held in Fergus Falls, Minnesota, the first weekend in September. Fourteen SCCC club members were in attendance. The sight of a 13 foot otter can send chills up your spine. Actually a good time was had by all and the big news is that Sioux City Camera Club won the Large Club of the Year Award.

We attended seminars, shot pictures, ate, and chatted with a lot of folks. The convention next year is hosted by Iowa City and will be held at the Amana Colonies.

My own personal best for the convention was shooting 42 pictures of a milk cow wearing a straw hat and white boa. If that is not dedication, give me another definition. ----- Bob Gillespie
